WBC ADCP students transferring to LBC's iLEAD Center: Capital Region - Best Path to Graduation

Your tuition rate will continue at the fall 2012 academic term level from WBC, for the duration of your program with LBC. It will be "locked." Your tuition costs will not climb during the remainder of your academic experience at LBC provided you don't stop out of your degree program for a prolonged period of "sitting out". We are waiving LBC's $25 application fee.

Scholarships that were awarded from WBC will also continue for the duration of your education at LBC as long as you continue to meet the academic qualifications. Students must continue to apply for federal student aid each academic year. The FAFSA will determine eligibility for federal and state aid.

You will earn your degree from LBC. You will complete your requirements through LBC. Students will enter LBC's program with the same academic credits, academic standing, and class level as you held at WBC. You will take equivalent courses in curriculum options with even more flexibility in graduation requirements than what WBC offered.

Current WBC ADCP students have the following options with LBC:

1) Transfer to LBC Traditional - Move or commute to LBC Lancaster campus and take traditional undergraduate courses. Cannot usually be older than 29 years old to live in our dorms as a traditional undergraduate student.
2) Transfer to LBC Degree Completion –
   a) study online
   b) study on campus at the new LBC iLEAD Center: Capital Region
   c) mix online and on campus (iLEAD Center: Capital Region)
   d) commute to Lancaster main campus from where you currently live
   e) move to Lancaster (dorms are not available for Degree Completion students) and commute to Lancaster campus

You will begin to have LBC courses and professors starting spring 2013 (January 22nd 2013). LBC does not use the Knowledge Elements curriculum/courses/syllabi.

You may participate in LBC's graduation ceremony and related events (two times per year - May and December).

Courses may be supplemented with LBC's Moodle platform (we will not continue with WBC's use of OpenCourse)

You can earn up to 30 college credits for free from an evaluation of their life experiences. These credits usually come in as pure elective credits.

LBC will maintain/provide your transcripts for courses taken at both WBC and LBC.

LBC's e/Merge (Christian Service) program will replace WBC's Christian Service/Field Education requirement.

Textbooks will be available through the LBC Bookstore, and may also be available through other sources.

There will be no extra "surcharge" for LBC online courses (WBC charged an extra $84 per course).

General Education (Arts & Sciences) courses are now available through LBC (online or Lancaster campus, possibly at LBC iLEAD Center: Capital Region if enrollments are high enough).

WBC's Equip program CEUs may be transferable into LBC's Degree Completion as college credit (usually at a 3 CEU to 1 credit ratio).

LBC iLEAD Center: Capital Region will offer Degree Completion courses on campus. We will offer courses in the evening. A course will run 1 night a week for 5 weeks, 6 to 10pm.

You may be placed in the same classroom for courses with students who have been combined from other cohorts, or new spring 2013 students. The "cohort" format may no longer be strictly maintained.

Usually, a student's GPA for LBC and for graduation honors, will be based only on the courses taken with LBC. GPA will start over upon enrollment at LBC, does not continue from GPA calculations of WBC courses.

WBC ADCP students currently have a variety of LBC DC options to enroll into:

a) Certificate (requires 10 Bible/Theology courses taken for credit)
b) Associate of Science in Bible
c) Bachelor of Science in Bible (with some minors available through online courses)
    a. Major in Bible
    b. Major in General Studies – Concentration in Business Administration
    c. Coming soon – major in Organizational Management and Leadership
d) Second Degree

You may elect to first earn LBC's Associate's Degree. Those courses may not all initially be offered at the LBC iLEAD Center: Capital Region, though they all are currently available through DC online.

WBC students, who already have completed Bachelor's degrees from elsewhere with a major other than Bible, can now elect to enter our Second Degree option, to earn a second Bachelor's degree through the completion of 12 LBC Bible/Theology courses.

You may earn minors under the bachelor's degree option of LBC (some minors are offered online, others through traditional Lancaster campus)

In most situations WBC ADCP Students who transfer to LBC will need to complete at least 6 LBC credits before earning a degree with LBC.
